the beet-sugar industry in the United States during the year 1991 was made public in full today. The report was made up largely by Charles F. Saylor, who was commissioned by Secretary Wilson to make an investigation into the beet-sugar business.

Wilson to make an investigation into the beet-sugar business.

Not the least important statement contained in the report is one concerning proposed new factories. At the time the investigation was made it was discovered that there were in the United States a good many projects for new best-sugar, factories, and that the carrying out of these enterprises would entain an investment of 449,000,000.

supply. Making due allowance "There doubtless will be an increase in the production of cane sugar in the South which should be taken into account. But for convenience of calculation it is here assumed that the increase will be in beet-sugar production only. To equip and build these factories will require an investment of capital of $250,000,000. This vast sum of money must be expended in this country for building materials and mamoney must be expended in this ntry for building materials and ma-

States are destined to assume promi-nent positions in sugar producing. Con-cluding its comment about sugar in California and on the Coast, the report

"The results in California during the year 1901 were good. Most factories report favorably in regard to the sugarbeet crop. Sugar beets grown in California are always so high in quality and purity that their yield in sugar goes a long way toward making up for the low tonnage of beets in unfavorable years, but in the past year the tonnage has been good. An idea can be formed of California's importance in the sugar industry by noting the fact that she is able to provide sugar enough to supply about seven-eighths of the consumption of all the Pacific Coast States, which is about 165,000,000 pounds. In this State there are many projects under consideration for further extending this important industry within its borders. It is quite probable that in the near future she will be doubling her present output."

commenting upon the future develop-ment of the industry it says that for future development of the sugar indus-try we can look confidently to Colorado, Wyoming, Montana, Idaho, Utah, Ariaid be extended south into Kansas and other States in this latitude. In no other area in the United States is the prospect for future growth of the industry better than in the mountain States. Sugar production in this area means what wheat does to Kansas and Minnesota, what corn does to Iowa and Illinois, what cotton does to Mississippi and other States south, and what fruit culture means to California.

The arid region will assume agricultural prominence largely through the various products mentioned. Whatever else can be said of the sugar beet, it is a blessing to the arid region. The Pacific Slope produces agricultural products both by rain and irrigation. These States are destined to assume prominents.

HAVEMEYER ON STAND.

(BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.)

WASHINGTON, May 1.—The inquiry into the present holdings of Cuban sugar and Cuban lands, ordered by the Benate, was begun today by the sub-committee on Cuban relations. President Henry Havemeyer of the American Sugar Refining Company was the first witness, and all of the members of the sub-committee, Mesgrs. Platt of Connecticut, Burnham and Teller, were in attendance. Senator Patterson also was present. Others present with Havemeyer were Arthur Donner, treasurer of the company, and Henry C. mentioned as having purchased represents your entire interest, direct and indirect, in Cuban sugar."

"That is the statement I make."

Concluding, Havemeyer said the entire Cuban sugar crop is about 750,000 tons, but that much of it has been withheld from the market in view of the possible tariff concessions to be made by Congress. On this account his purchases had been only about one-third the average of other years. On this account, too, the purchases had been made principally at outports where the storage facilities were poor, rather than at Havana. The purchases from the outports had caused most of the shipments to be made from those ports, rather than from Havana, where the company now has about 45,000 tons stored. The purchases at the outports had caused the sales there to be made on a parity with the beet-sugar prices.

Speaking of the capacity of his company, he said that it refined & proceeding, he said that is refined from the company produced 1.200,000 tons of the refined sugar, while the consumption was 2,00,000 tons. Cuban sugars, he said that his company could not determine their price.
"We have," he said, "no control over them whatever; they don't belong to us."

"The purpose was to promote our general corporate interests. The company never has, directly or indirectly, purchased any sugar lands except in Porto Rico. We did have such a purpose theresfor a time, but abandoned it."

The road is to be extended later to Rosewell and Albuquerque.

SAME IN MAN AND CATTLE.

BERLIN, May 1.—Advance sheets of Prof. Behring's forthcoming book on "Tuberculosis in Cattle" are available here today. From them it is seen that in his book the professor details results of six years' investigations at Marburg, where he was assisted by Drs. Ruppel and Romer. Frof. Behring affirms that tuberculosis in man and cattle is propagated by identical bacilli, and that the seeming differences between the human and the cattle bacilli result from the capacity of the bacilli to accommodate themselves to the organism in which they live.

geles public building was started today, when the first efforts were made to have the Senate Public Buildings Committee increase the limit of cost fixed by the House Committee and now incorporated into the House bill. The House bill allows only $500,000 to be spent in all, and that, it is claimed, is insufficient. Among the conferences held today was one between Representative McLachlan and Senator Fairbanks, Chairman of the Senate Committee, at which the necessity for a larger appropriation was gone over. With the Public Buildings Bill through the House, it now rests with the Senators from California to say what shall be done about increasing the appropriations, and in this matter San Francisco has the first call, because the San Francisco customhouse has been pending for a long time before both houses of Congress; is backed by the senior Senator from California, and is a matter that everybody seems to be fairly well agreed must be attended to. The House bill allows $700,000 for the San Francisco customhouse. and without the slightest doubt, Senator Perkins will ask that this be increased to at least $1,000,000. If this be done, then there will be but little, if any, chance for getting other California building appropriations increased It is understood, however, that Senator Fairbanks, who will have charge of the building bill, has promised that the matter of more money for Los Angeles shall receive very careful consideration at his hands and at the hands of the committee.

It simply amounted to a proposal that the government should prevent a British subject from selling his property to a foreigner. No doubt the matter referred to was very serious, but such a drastic change in established practice could not be undertaken lightly.

McKevitt, Vacaville; George D. Kellogg and A. H. Schnabel, New Castle. The plan of organization adopted by the incorporators of the California Fruit Distributors contemplates the distribution of the $19,000 of capital stock among the stockholders in proportion to their carload shipments last year. Those already in the association represent 39 per cent, of the business of last year, and will receive $8 per cent. of the stock when it is ready to be distributed. An immediate effort will be made to gather in the shippers who handled the remaining 12 per cent. of the eastern shipments.

BATTLE WITH OUTLAWS. OFFICER KILLS HIS MAN. battles ever fought in the Northwest between officers of the law and desperadoes, which occurred on Sunday last at Almira, west of here, have just been received. As a result of the fight, "Hilly" Gibbons, of the desperadoes, lies dead, and his partner, named Wild, is at large, though handcuffed. About two weeks ago Gibbons and Wild rounded up a band of horses to ship to Wyoming. Deputy Sheriff Nichell of Okanogan county, pursued the thieves for two weeks, finally locating them at Almira. Wild was captured in a hotel, and turned over to a group of men in the hotel office. Gibbons was located in a saloon, but when the officers entered the room he jumped behind a by-stander and backed out of the side door.

Nichell shot him in the side, arm and hip, but he managed to reach his horse. For eleven miles Nichell pursued his man, they exchanging shots continuously. When Gibbon's ammunition was gone, he threw down his gun and dismounted, having fired fifty shots in all. He was brought to Almira, and died at midnight in the presence of his father and mother.

Meanwhile Wild fought his way out of the hotel office, and disappeared. Gibbons was a fugitive from justice, and had served time for cattle stealing.

out pounding as in other pisno players—on the contrary, with an infinite delicacy of expression—with the tempo "a volante" with the swinging tone so necessary to his correct interpretation—all under complete command. The second GREAT superiority of the "Cecilian" is the "damper" action, by which the bass is subordinated, when otherwise it would overwhelm the treble, as, for instance, in the Chopin Etude, Op. 10, No. 12. I have said before, and I repeat, that, in my opinion, the "Cecilian" has put the plano "at the feet" of anybody.

"How long did you keep the price down?"
"Until we recovered our trade. The best-sugar makers undertook to control the markets by contracts with dealers which I considered in restraint of trade. Consequently, we reduced the price until our trade was restored to us, keeping it down to the lowest point for about two weeks."

He denied having notified beet-sugar producers that he intended to keep up the war until he should drive them out of business. He had nothing to do with them, he added.

In response to further questions. Bavemeyer said there had been a fluctuation of prices at Missouri River points for about six months, but that when the trade was entirely restored to the trust, prices had been restored to their normal status, which is the New York price with freight rates added. Havemeyer declared, however, that he had had no intention of driving the best-rusar industry out of the country, but asid that he had put down the price to less than cost in order to severe his shave of frade.

"For that purpose," he said, "I will so as far as my directors will allow me, as long as there is any money in our treasury."

ST. LOUIS-CHICAGO. oss is so much is due to the fact that loss is so much is due to the fact that only one fire engine responded to the telephone alarm. Chief Strohm says that there was a mistake made by Capt. Roeder of the No. 11 engine company in not having turned in a box alarm as soon as he saw the magnitude of the fire, which was in one of the finest residence districts in Los Angeles. There was one steamer, one hook-andest residence districts in Los Angeles. There was one steamer, one hook-and-ladder truck, two hose companies and a chemical engine, all of which, except the steamer and the truck, were practically useless. It was the awkwardest fire fighting that has been done by the department in a long time, and Chief Strohm blames Capt. Roeder for it.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Clark of Milwaukee were guests at the residence of Mr. Hancock for the night, and shortly before 4 o'clock Mrs. Clark was awakened by a noise in the hallway. When she opened the door she was confronted by a wall of flames, the whole interior of the house being ablaze. The fire was shooting from an electric switch box in the hallway, and the woodwork around it was in flames.

Cincinnati Has a Practical Monopoly of the Business-Process of Manufac-

[Cincinnati Commercial - Tribune:] The opening of the baseball season calls attention to the fact, not generally known, that Cincinnati supplies practically the entire Middle West with baseballs, and that something like 125 people earn a living in the baseball factories of the city.

The process of making baseballs on a wholesale plan is a rather interesting one, consuming in a single season something like 8000 ekins. The scrappings from the shoe factories, of which the "raw" balls are molded, are stored in cellars of about one acre area, and from this material the balls are spaped by hand. According to quality, the ball is bound by a few or several dozen rounds of cord. The "raw" balls are placed in automatic molds, shaping the ball, and at the same time pressing out [Cincinnati Commercial - Tribune:]

This was shown during the French revolution, when, among other things that savored of religion, the government abolished Sunday. It was found, however, absolutely necessary to have a rest day about once in a week, and

There are many people who do not baseball and golf on the first day of the week. Such people are debarred from enjoying these harmless sports unless they have a few hours' leisure on a week day. This is a phase of the question which should appeal to our church friends.

We do not wish to work toward the condition of affairs which prevails in some parts of Southern Europe, where there are about 200 church holidays in the year, nor, on the other hand, do we want to drift toward the Chinese fashion of taking a holiday only once a year. The question of hours of business is one that can easily be arranged. It is, to a great extent, a question of habit. If stores were kept open until midnight, there as they were closing. Indeed, Chicago has a department store that is open all night. This may be a good idea as a specialty, but it would be a sorry thing for the country if the practice should become general.

Several times have more than a few visitors passed through our banquet halls, and never yet has there been any criticism This latest excursion of up-to-date, highly-educated and progressive women taxes our hospitality to the limit. We want to make them feel at home. We want to make them understand that, in the old Spanish way, everything that they see is theirs.

Yet, while we consider those things, we, of the Southwest, we who are receiving these distinguished guests, cannot ignore the fact that they are whether or not they shall receive in their councils those to whom God of skin than others. However, we cannot really under stand why an educated and refined roman who happens to have a trace colored blood in her veins should be debarred from meeting in conven tion with her white sisters, who pro fess to have the welfare of mankind and womankind-at heart.

If this must be, we of the Southwest shall watch with much interest the explanation of the why and wherefore thereof. But let us interolate this remark: The Civil War is over. We are supposed to know, in this country, neither North nor South, black nor white. Foresters' night at the Masonic fair was full of jolly fun. The usual crowd jammed and pushed its way last night round among the handsome booths, wishing for just enough backbone to refuse to "take a chance—ten centa." But the spirit of "taking a fiyer" encouraged by pretty importunate women. But the spirit of "taking a flyer" en-couraged by pretty importunate women, soon lets the dimes fly. Therefore the workingwomen of Los Angeles—those who earn their livelihood by their own exertions—trust that they shall commit no offense against propriety by employing this method, at this particular time, to direct your attention to a matter in which they are vitally interested.

This distribution of circulars was contrary to a city ordinance, which prohibits the distribution of handbills of any description, and makes such action a misdemeanor. Fortunately Los Angeles has a Chief of Police who is not afraid to enforce the law. When Chief Elton was informed of the circumstances he detailed officers to look for the persons who were making the distribution, his orders being to arrest them and selze the circulars. The sneaks must have received a tip of what the police were ordered to do, for two detectives searched the town last night and were unable to find a man who was distributing the circular. The search will not be abandoned. If any person is found passing out a lying document he will be arrested and prosecuted.

called in at the first symptom of failing variality just as promptly and readily as the family physician. Several dog and cat hospitals flourish, with a "full" list continuously maintained, in Chicago. More, a Chicago animal lover maintains a "dog and cat ambulance" as well.

Alling animals, according to this man, Dr. Charles W. White, suffer quite as much in being moved from home to hospital as do alling human beings. Transportation by means of a carriage or express wagon is torture to the suffering creature. The jarring and joiting brings untold agony to the broken limb. The unaccustomed noises, the change, and the light cause accute suffering to the nervous or feverish patient. Pet dogs and cats frequently go into convulsions, it is claimed, for these reasons.

Talk With Boads.

The Turks use beads for conversa-tional purposes as well as to count their prayers. The ordinary ritual of the Mohammedan faith requires thirty-six prayers and sixteen quotations from the Koran, and the full ritual em-braces ninety-nine prayers. If a mis-take is made it is necessary for the worshiper to begin at the beginning braces ninety-nine prayers. If a mistake is made it is necessary for the worshiper to begin at the beginning and go over the whole thing again. Hence he is very careful to check each prayer that he utters, and each quotation that he repeats.

Most of the prayers are very short, however, and consist of the same meaning expressed in different phrases. "Allah is great. I testify that there is no God but Allah, and Mohammed is his prophet."

Those who use beads for conversational purposes, as is done in Greece and other oriental countries, finger them unconsciously, just as a woman fondies a fan or a man whirls a cane in his hand.—[Constantinople Corre-

quit in order to get rid of Gray.

Last night the building trades section met again and organised the new council of building trades. This comprises the woodworkers, the layers, carpenters, electricians, cement workers, glaziers and brass workers. Frank Gilbert was chosen as walking delegate, and will begin his "walking" to day.

Another instance of Jimgrayism developed yesterday. About three-fourths of the carpenters in the city receive $1.50 a day, the others, or second-class carpenters, receiving $3. In an effort to make people pay as much for a poor workman as a good one, Gray set yesterday as the time when all carpenters should quit their work untigiven $3.50. No contractor had reported any walk-outs of carpenters, and a number stated emphatically that they will not grant an increase of 50 cents a day to the inferior workmen. It has fallen through. Of the 1220 carpenters in Los Angeles, only thirty-five west out yesterday on the Jimgray strike order.

PHOTOGRAPHIC SALON.

ment of Awards Tonight... ment of Awards Tonight.

The hanging of the more than five hundred pictures of the photographic salon was completed yesterday. Over each group of pictures a large reflector has been placed, so that they may be seen at their best. The judges have made up the award of prises, but will not make them public until tonight. The private yiew, for members of the Camera Club, took place last night, and was largely attended, and many of the visitors took a hand in putting on the finishing touches to the arrangement. Tonight the invitation reception will be held, and tomorrow afternoon the saloon will be thrown open to the public.

RAILROAD NOTES. The ticket offices of the railroads will be open all day excepting during the floral parade, say 10 a.m. to 1 p.m.

The general offices of the Santa Fé
in the Bradbury building will be closed all day.
The freight sheds of both roads will be open until 10 a.m., and then closed for the day.

REDLANDS.

ANTI-SALOON STRENGTH. ANTI-SALOON STRENGTH.

REDLANDS, May 1.—The Anti-Saloon League is planning to make its strength felt in the coming campaign.
There are over 1300 members in this county, well organized, and they easily hold the balance of power. If both parties put up good candidates the league will remain neutral, but otherwise, the strength of the league will be thrown against the doubtful ticket. If poor candidates are put up by both parties, the league will enter with a ticket of its own.

REDLANDS BREVITIES.

Izer Felix Davis of Pasadena and Miss Lenore Keeney of Washington were married yesterday at high noon at the residence of J. S. Davis, the groom's father, Rev. M. B. Sharbrough officiating. They will reside in Pasadena. While riding a bicycle, J. W. Wilson collided with a buggy and sustained long cuts in the scaip and a severely-sprained arm. The driver put whip to his horse and left the unfortunate man to make his own way to medical aid. Redlands School District yesterday unanimously voted to levy a special iax of $50.0 for additional facilities. The same had voted to issue $15,000 in honds for a new building and other im-provements.

E. R. Bishop also has determined to begin operations on the southwest quarter of the same section, which he bought not long after his discoveries on section 13. On the latter ground Bishop has two good wells, one of which is capable of doing, it is believed, 100 barrels a day. This well has never been tested, as, unfortunately, when it was ready, the perforator got stuck in the casing, and all efforts to remove it have proved unsuccessful.

A director of the Associated Com-panies is authority for the statement that the combine will build a pipe line to tidewater, providing it cannot get rates from the railroad. In fact, he rates from the railroad. In fact, he says it has always been the expectation of those behind the consolidation movement that a pipe line owned by the combine would be necessary.

The project is deemed feasible, there being no impediment to carrying it out except the securing of finances necessary to pay for the improvement. This, however, is not so great a labor since the forming of the combine, as it would however, is not so great a labor since the forming of the combine, as it would have been before its creation, for the reason that millions in values have been bunched together and will now serve as collateral, whereas when the property was in separate holdings and under scattered ownership, it could not be used for that purpose. An associated bond would be secured by the ichest solid body of oil land in the world.

CHILD-WIFE'S DEATH. Mrs. Emma Gilliam died here last night under suspicious circumstances, no physician having been called until within two hours of her death, and an official investigation shows that blood poisoning was the cause. Although Mrs. Gilliam had been married for nine months, she was but 13 years of age at the time of her death.

Stolen Money That Was not Stolen-Found in Cap of Complaining Witness. Just when things began to look pretty black for a colored damsel on trial yesterday for robbing a man, she was triumphantly vindicated by the man's own hat.

Helen Armstrong was accused by a colored Pullman porter named James A. Farrington, of robbing him in a fast house. He said he had some greenbacks. It was a very clear case, how the money was passed to someone who ran out of the back door, and the hammer of stern justice got all ready to swat Miss Helen a blow.

Farrington stood there ready to see himself avenged, dangling his cap in his hand.

Suddenly one of the officers saw something green in the inside of the cap, and called the porter's attention to it. Farrington very sheepishly nulled out the missing greenbacks. He didn't know how they out there.

PASADENA BREVITIES.

Yesterday was the day of the annual meeting of the Merchants' Protective Association. Owing to the absence from town of many of the members the date was postponed until May 8. It was decided to postspone the annual banquet, which is due now, until next December. The annual banquet of the Board of Trade occurs in the latter part of April of each year, and the Merchants' Association and Board of Trade are closely affiliated. The dainties of the recnt banquet have scarcely been digested. The merchants think that their health will be better if these extraordinary feeds are more evenly distributed.

Yesterday was a very quiet day in Pasadena. All the groceries and many other business Kolses were closed to permit the employes and proprietors to see the Elks' parade in Los Angeles, op-to take part in it, in many cases. Today will be even more peaceful. The public schools and the public library, the Clif Hall and a majority of the stores will be closed.

P. P. Bonham, recently appointed Building and Plumbing Inspector, finds his office a spretty busy one. His duty is to visit each new house in which Dlumbing has been done for asaltary-purpose, and to be sure that the work a properly accomplished. A great deal of building is being done in the city just now. It keeps the official histling.

Several hundred copies of the Board of Health's recently-ordained rules have been issued for distribution. Each pamphlet bears the admonition: "Keen interest in the health of the people, by the people, fosters and stimulates cleanliness. Cleanliness warms the heart and brightens the mind. The fich and poor alike share in the bless-flags vouchasfed to the whole from such conditions."

Varicocele

Many men afflicted with varicocele are Many men afflicted with varicocele are endangering their general health, their manly power, and even life itself by allowing the disorder to remain uncured. Varicocele results from partial, paralysis of the delicate nerve fibers that have a part in controlling local circulation of the blood. The muscular coating of the veina, being deprived of nervous communication and control, become inactive, weaken and relax. The blood vessels expand from the pressure within, the circulation in the parts becomes sluggish, and frequently stagmant pools form in little nooks and pockets that constantly onlarge as the relaxation continues. The possibility exists that clots may form in these stagmant pools and then pass out into the general circulation. Should one find icdgment in a valve of the heart the result might be instant death, or should it the carried to the brain, general paralysis would follow. I guarantee to cure varicocele in five days by a method that involves no knife, no ligature, no casiste. DREAMS OF LOVELINESS.

There were many notably handsome women present last evening, and their dresses were-well, some of them were dreams of loveliness. The federation gown—that is, the composite gown—leaves a bewildering imprint on the retina of jetted net over shimmering peach-bloom brocade, an abundance of soft, filmy lace, and the sparkle and flash of priceless gems. Of the earnest, purposeful face above there is no need to speak, the picture is carried in the heart of each man and woman who was so fortunate as to be an accredited unit of the whole. Not that the women will forget the gowns—perish the thought! The feminine personality does not exist, be it ever so brainy and new womany, who does not adore a charming "creation." And there are no phrases yet coined that will begin to do justice to some of the gresses worn last evening.

and there are no phrases yet coined the members of the Biennial local board received in the suite of rooms on the north side of the reception hall, the introductions being made by Prof. J. A. Foshay, City Superintenden; of Schools.

The first room of the suite was decorated with a wide frieze of beautiful pink roses, attached to the natural foliage. It extended around the walls, to the floor, in each corner.

The feature of the decoration in the middle room was a fireplace, with double-tier mantel, done exquisitely in pink popples. Masses of ferns and pink aweet peas hung from the walls.

The third and last room of the suite was decorated with fine effect in immense clusters of lemon-colored acacia biossoms, hanging from the walls.

The apartment on the south side of the hall is richly done in red and green. There were many exquisite hanging pieces in spicy, red carnations. A long window on the south side was banked with fancy grasses, a single clump of brilliant, red amaryllis occupying the center. In one corner fruit punch was served.

The sentence in the Mayor's address which received the most generous meed of applause was: "May the woman wage-earner have her burdens lightened."

Mrs. Kate A. Bulkley, president of the State Federation welcomed the delegates from other States, in behalf of the California delegation. Her address, which was read from manuscript, was generously applauded at frequent intervals. She said:

MRS. BULKLEY'S SPEECH.

short, the best methods of raising the standard of living, both for ourselves and for others, to make us more worthy of this beautiful world in which God has placed us to grow.

"With each passing year new conditions will naturally confront us. Much has been accomplished, but more remains to be done. We never shall have finished, neither shall we be discouraged. Skill comes with practice, and strength from training, and each succeeding year of the Federation will see both skill and strength developed until we shall have attained to the thoroughness, simplicity and unity that will enable us to brush aside everything that stands in our way or impedes our efforts for the betterment of humanity.

"Strength united is stronger." So California, among the youngest of your children, will work in unity and harmony with you to advance the high aims and ideals of this great Federation.

"Then welcome, dear sisters and comrades, because of what you have accomplished in the past and for the stimulus and hope you inspire in the future. But more than all, welcome for the joy your presence brings us and the sweet memories you revive of the homes of our fathers and days-of our childhood.

"And, further even than this, we would welcome you not only as guests bringing to us a delightful atmosphere of earlier association, but as guests who would linger until at length you would be persuaded to make your home with us. California "walks with both hands full of gifts," which we would share with you, for "Here no hungry winter congeals our blood like the rivers, Here no stony ground provokes the wrath of the farmers;

Smoothly the plowshare runs through the soil, as a keel through the water.

All the year 'round the orange groves are in bloom, and grass grows are in bloom, and grass grows are in bloom, and grass grows here in a single night than in a whole Canadian summer.

Here, too, the lands may be had for the asking, and forests of timber. With a few blows of the ax, are hewn into houses."

MRS. LOWE'S RESPONSE.

There is an old proverb which seems specially sitting upon this occasion—
A hearty welcome makes a royal sart. Then, my friends, the feast hat we are here to celebrate indeed fill be royal. The men and women of Los Angeles have labored for months in our behalf; they have presented carefully for our coming, and with the same time work this morning, and with sautiful kindness they have welcomed us to their city, their homes and their work this morning, and with sautiful kindness they have welcomed us to their city, their homes and their hearts. For months we, the roman of the General Federation, ave traveled in imagination to this meananted spot, and we have dwelt goon the success which has attended very Blennial in the past, and we have come to Los Angeles prepared are receive and to give more than has wer been chronicled at any previous secting. We have come with that surage and enthusiasm that insures he accomplishment of all things, and he freedom which your welcome gives sakes possible the realization of our tighest hopes and at the same time fives to us the assurance that we shall endine our happiest anticipations while adjoying the pleasures you have anned for us out forget that a great is to us the assurance that we shall line our happiest anticipations while oring the pleasures you have anned for us.

But let us not forget that a great pushibility is placed upon the men of this convention. The feast is been prepared; you have been de welcome, but the ultimate such dewelcome, but the ultimate such depends upon you and me; yes, ry individual woman before me has do with the serving of this feast, erry word spoken here will have its ect for good or evil upon the work which we stand pledged before the rid. We have said to the world that have come together here to or for the betterment of the man race. We ourselves have no to be strengthened in every good pose. Let us, then, be on the alert hear every word that may be ken of truth and to lose no opportity to republish it and pass it on others. Above all things, let us rember that we are here to 'unture ody,' but to draw all men after truth.

this message I am selsed with a sense of inadequacy, but believe me, if the results of this convention shall mean aught that is good to the women here assembled or to society at large, it is to you, in great measure, that the credit is due, because it is your work, we thank you not only for your hospitality, but for that higher and broader catholicity of spirit which welcomes the principles for which we stand and which appreciates the altrulatic force which has been set in motion by the American club women, and whose vibrations have been felt from one end of this nation to the other. In doing this, and in the voice of the press of your city, you have given to this convention the suggestion of justice. liberality and unselfishness which, if followed, will make the sixth Biennial one long to be remembered. "I hope, my dear friends, that we shall be worthy guests and leave with you a memory which you will love and cherish long after we have gone."

"When, at one of the informal feasts of our Friday Morning Club board, some years ago, each was asked over the coffee and cakes what she considered the most remarkable, the most fruitful discovery of the nineteenth century, my ready reply was: The discovery of woman by herself. My comrades of the board thought it, perhaps, only a fresh alring of my hobby. But, indeed, dear friends, do not the achievements of woman in new and untried lines, since this awakening to the broader scope of her abilities, duties and responsibilities fully justify my seemingly audacious statement? Do not the gains already made in so brief a time and despite the barriers to be overthrown, seem magical, miraculous? "This gathering, dear friends, its numbers and the vaster majority which it represents, the enthusiasm and uplift of the tender companionship which has outleaped all limits of sect, society and class, to plant itself firmly on the simple basis of a common womanhood—does not this eclipse in its power and possibilities all the mechanical achievements of science, all advance in art and literature, in that, or in any cen-and literature, in that, or in any century?

"My own profoundest wish, my unquenchable longing (faith as well,) is that the power of organised womanhood in our clubs and in all kindred efforts by women toward social betterment and the safety of the home, should make and will make, its united protest against war—that ghastly anachronism of our civilisation and our century—with its inevitable barbarities and horrors; and its utter insanity, as a normal or Christian method of adjusting the differences of nations. For consider: It is woman upon whom falls the heaviest burdens, the cruelest anguish of war. It is she who furnishes the most indispensable munitions of war—the soldiers for the battlefield.
"To you, then, dear comrades, let me leave my last message of love, faith and entreaty:
"Heirs of the Ages, rise! Be bold!

Vice-President, Who Arrived Yester-day, Gives Her Views on Momentous Biennial Questions.

Mrs. Dimies T. S. Denison of New York is a candidate for the presidency of the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

This was the real news of yesterday am ong the club women, and so far as popular interest is concerned it overshadowed even the opening session of the convention. As soon as the news became known to those who are "doing politics," there were hurried conferences, whispered, but animated, and slates that had been prepared in expectation that Mrs. Denison was out of the running were broken in a thousand pieces, preparatory for the readjustment that is to come.

A New York paper of last Friday stated positively that Mrs. Denison stoutly affirmed that under no circumstants.

Mrs. Blankenberg to know that she is a woman's suffragist. There is that bold air of defiance in her face and carriage that tells at a giance that she has it in for the tyrant man who would keep gentle woman in perpetual slavery. When Mrs. Blankenberg begins to talk, the men take to tall timber to avoid being paralyzed by her withering sarcaum.

Mrs. Blankenberg gets right down to her subject without any preliminary sparring. It is a battle for suffrage that she wages from start to finish. She began yesterday by announcing that she advocates "the greatest reform the world has ever been cailed upon to consider—that of woman's enfranchisement." She said the ballot was but the saternal expression of a power so farreaching that she would not endeavor to define its limits. "Politics," she deciared, "come (she used he plural verb) into the home in many ways. They come through the water pipes, and the more corrupt the politics, the dirtier the water." She also said the politics microbes enter the home through the same pipes and electric wires, and the children who attend the public schools bring the infection home with them.

CHARACTER SKETCHES.

Last in the procession came a motley crowd, every one an artist in his indescribable make-up.

McCormack brothers had a poor, famished skape, which they announced was "owned once by Leland Stanford."

This bony structure was pushing the order wagon of these enterprising grocers, between the shafts, which had been fastened to the back of their decrepit vehicle. A big hunchback girl, apparently such, was "joding the almost extinct animal. "We take orders, cheap at % price," was one of their most striking ads, and they were complacent in the assertion that "The world wouldn't move without us."

One family from the extreme suburbs, very anxious to do business in the products of their farm, had a crasy patchwork of a vehicle loaded down with poultry, pigs, eggs and vegetables, and some of their appeals to a discriminating public were, "Kornfed poultry, pigs fur settin', raised without irrigation."

When a certain white steed came down the line every one was expect.

When a certain white steed came down the line, every one was expectant, for it bore a piacard announcing, "Hamiltonian, No. 10, will race this afternoon for ten barrels of old rye," The bones in this brute crunched and grated as he strode carnestly along, mindful of better days.

The only pure-white donkey in these parts was led by R. A. Dudley, as Father Time, and astride this unbiemed jacksass rode Fred Durlin. The animal was equipped with a set of elik's horns, and led a procession of about twenty other donkeys. E. A.

The Pasadena fire department was gorgeous in red, and looked like a conflagration itself. A stationary engine placed on a home-made wagon-looked effective.

Two wicked, leering nags, drew W. S. Kingsbury and L. V. Youngworth, got up as a farmer and his bride, and behind them, loudly objecting, were some nice fat hens in a crate. She was blushing, and very proud in the possession of some new undergarments, which were on exhibition.

Unkle Billy, the village squire, was very jovial, and as he rode in his squeaky rig he belabored a sarcastic horse that was weakly defying the bone yard.

Walter S. Melick from Antelope Valley was resplendent in blue overalls, and a sweet thing rode with him, who proved to be Hans Dorman. Both cart and horse were voters.

ENTERTAINMENT, GOOD

Samuel Johnson's cynical mood would change if he were in this city last night, or tonight, either, for the Los Angeles Theater wouldn't hold all that wanted to see the Eiks' minstrel show last evening, so it will be done over. It was old Ursa Major who declared that "The talk of a woman is like a dog's walking on his hind legs. It can never be done well; the surprising thing is that it can be done at all." So he might have growled that an ama-

There have been many Piestas; there have been many occasions for night crowds on the streets, but in point of work for the police department, general disorder, though not of a vicious nature and anything but peace and quiet, the throngs in the business center last might broke the record.

Los Angeles has not yet arrived at the white wings period in its street cleaning, though there would seem to be an opening for them on the three leading business thoroughfares. Broadway, Spring and Main streets. The occasional annoyance—to put it mildly—caused by the flying dust, is at times aggravated in these streets, by the existing muncipal remedy, rough sweeping, which is worse than the annoyance itself. A few days ago a sweeper was at work on Main street, who seemed to have too much energy and muscle for his job. He was determined to get over the ground somehow, whether he cleaned the street or not, or how he cleaned if, and he made the dust and things fly in every direction, creating dense clouds in his neighborhood which settled down on exposed fruit, other merchandise and the passing pedestrians.

borhood which settled down on exposed fruit, other merchandise and the passing pedestrians.

The wealthy tourists and residents from the East may have a little something to answer for when Gabriel blows his trumpet. Their grand indifference to the change they should get back in making purchases at the stores, smacks of ancient days, when noble lords and gallant knights scattered largesse with a generous hand. These were rare, casy come, easy go times; but life has changed since then, and it appears that this indifference of the modern Croesus has taught certain Los Angeles merchants a bad lesson. Every easterner who deals with them is believed to be alike indifferent. Money is acquired so easily in the East and accumulates so rapidly that it is necessary to come out here, for a time at least, in order to get rid of it, and these merchants, of course, wish to accommodate their patrons. After you have made a purchase they pause, tentatively, and only when they see the small change look in your face do they pass it out. Others regard you loftlily, and ask you if you are "as particular as that," which makes you feel ashamed and wish you were a millionaire. Others forget there was any change coming to you; but this experience teaches one who are the merchants with the millionaire patronage, though, it is said, some of them don't look it.

The usefulness of farmers' organizations is if proportion to the zeal with which they treat practical questions and the motives from which they act upon economic and political questions. Next winter their strength will crystallize in at least one public measure that has been sidetracked by the State administration—the enactment of an adequate fertilizer law. The Chronicle man will then realize that his confidence in farmers' organizations has not been misplaced. I take it as settled that the guano men of San Diego and the "tankage" dispensers of San Prancisco will have to take a back sent when the fertilizer law is up again for consideration—and the Governor will simply shut his eyes and sign it as the will of the farmers of the State as indicated by the position of the farmers' organizations.

NOTES AFIELD.

JOHN IBAACS, until recently acting secretary of the State Board of Horticulture, is in Southern California this week. He has been sent south to gather information upon the extent to which pear blight and olive root-knot are found in different portions of the State. Mr. Isaac will remain two or three days, then extending his investigations farther south.

Of course it was set at-Supervisor Davis who made this remark for the political description does not apply to him. But he seemed anxious to corral the meat on account of the damage the rabbits might inflict upon his young trees. Two years ago one might drive from Assus to San Bernardino and not see a jack-rabbit. The advent of the raise last season and this has made juagles of the washes and waste lands again, and the white-and-black penants of the Lepus Californicus, or double ses, may be seen in dozons saling across the commons all along the line.

Arrangements are making for an orange growers' meeting at Rivera, which will be of interest financially to every fruit grower at Whittier, Downey and Rivera. The sole topic for consideration will be the renewal of a community attack upon the purple scale. Last year every citrus tree at Rivera was treated with distillate or cyanide upon agreement, in which every farmer joined, and all fulfilled their promises.

Twenty-five thousand two hundred bearing citrus trees were inspected. Last rural telephones were becoming popular in Southern California. This does not appear, as several projected lines did not materialize. One cause of the stilling of telephonic talk is no doubt

I present in another column Mr. Alexander Craw's letter upon parasitic insects. While his facts are beyond controversy, growers of fruit should not conclude that their vigilance should be relaxed, or that the old remedies should be abandoned. Mr. Craw's article is drawn from his individual knowledge at these things, and will be read with profit by all. The arrival of Prof. C. W. Wood-

In some por-tions of Illinois several countles are now connected by lines owned by nu-merous companies, mutual and specula-tive, and they are all joining in interin the same territory profitably to themselves or comfortably to their patrons. But a broader policy toward communities wishing to maintain mutual lines would no doubt be advantageous to the great lines as well as the small.

Alexander Craw, State Quarantine Officer, writes to the agricultural editor of The Times, taking issue with the conviction of the late farmers' club convention at Pomona upon the question of beneficial insects. This letter reads as follows:

SAN FRANCISCO, April 15, 1902.—
[Agricultural Editor Times:] From the fact that Prof. Cook received no response at the Pomona meeting to his request for information as to the value of beneficial insects, outside of the Vedalia cardinalis, in subduing injurious orchard pests, it is very evident that orchardists soon forget some of their experiences of the past and can only remember the troubles of the present.

only remember the troubles of the present.

As The Times has considerably increased the scope of Prof. Cook's audience, it gives me an opportunity to reply. Our early orange growers remember the large Wolfskill orchard of nearly two thousand trees, on land that is now nearly the center of the city of Los 'Angeles. At the time the trees commenced to bear no scales nor other pests were known in Southern California, and the trees were bright and clean. Soon after, that the "soft brown orange scale," Lecanum hesperidum, was istroduced into the orchards and gardens of Los Angeles and spread with great rapidity. Orange trees were killed by that scale, and the growers were sorry they had planted an orange. Years passed and the remedies at that time were of no avail in checking that pest. Finally two intern-parasites, Coccophagus lecani and Encyrtus flavus, were accidentally introduced and the scale disappeared. We still have both parasites and it is seldom we find that scale in sufficient numbers to cause any damage.

When the late L. J. Rose of San Ga-and it is seldom we find that scale in sufficient numbers to cause any damage.

When the late L, J. Rose of San Gabriel planted a small Japanese orange tree on his beautiful Sunny Slope estate he had no idea of the great loss the small yellow scales—Aspidiotus citrinus—on the leaves would cause him and other growers of the State. The celebrated Sunny Slope avenue of fine old orange trees was cut back to the large limbs and scrubbed, but still the scale remained and spread until its natural check—Aspidiotophagus citrinus—from Japan, was introduced, and no one is alarmed about the yellow scale. In fact, the Horticultural Commissioners do not consider it of sufficient importance to order the disinfection of trees that show traces of the "yellow scale." Prof. Cook probably remembers the stunted appearance and sparse foliage of infested trees when he came to the State Even in Riverside and San Bernardino counties, where a scale of any description is feared, the yellow scale is left to the care of its natural enemy.

Agaln,the "San José scale"—Apidiotus perniciosus—that a few years ago de-

Again, the "San José scale"—Apidiotus perniciosus—that a few years ago destroyed the deciduous orchards in portions of the State is only occasionally found even in districts where no spraying or other artificial methods have been taken, for several years, to destroy it. The gradual disappearance of that pest is caused by the work of osmall internal parasitic fly, Aphelinus fuscipennis. This little parasite is now well established, according to Prof. W. G. Johnson, in Maryland. From one twig four inches long infested with "San José scale." Mr. Johnson bred 1478 internal parasites.

It will be about two years before this condition will be reached. The abolition of the bounties will not so into effect until cearly that time, and the trust is making hay while the sun shines. It timed its tariff bill for the reduction of the duty on Cuban sugar to run about twenty months, so it will approximately cover the period for which the European bounties will remain in force. During this time the profits of the trust will be swelled to gigantic proportions by the gift of this 20 per cent, of the sugar duty, which Congress is making to Mr. Havemeyer and his associates. When the change comes the trust will be in a position to meet it with that perfect equanimity which is engendered by the possession of money chests filled to bursting.—

The forcing process, or without it, the prolificacy of the hen has so reduced her vitality that her eggs must be infertile, or the germs so weak that the chicks die in the shell, or still worse, they linger along, dying when young, or if kept alive by care, are so lacking in what we usually call strong consti-

chicks die in the shell, or still worse, they linger along, dying when young, or if kept alive by care, are so lacking in what we usually call strong constitutions that they grow and mature slowly. All of these conditions may be found in the eggs of the same hen if she has been producing eggs freely during the winter months. Whether this trouble comes most frequently in the eggs of the pullet that begins to lay in the fail, or the older hens that begins to lay at the same time, we have no data upon which to decide, and perhaps it is about equal in each. While we would not select or even use the three or four first eggs from a pullet, we should take the eggs from pullets or old fowls that began to lay in February for March hatching, and from those that did not lay until March for setting in April or May, rather than those of the birds that had been laying well all winter, if our success was to depend upon the number of chickens that were hatched out and raised to maturity. It may be well to use eggs from the hens that can make a record of two hundred eggs or more in a year, with a view to increase the natural production of eggs, but after they had laid the first hundred we should expect but few chickens for a clutch of eggs, unless they had been taking a vacation of a month or more. As we are not infallible, and have not experimented on this especial point, we may be wrong, but when we had pure-bred fowl, and sold eggs for setting, we usually had poor reports from the eggs of early-hatched pullets that had laid fairly well in winter, and good ones from the eggs of later-hatched birds that did not begin to lay until nearly spring, and other poultry keepers could tell the same story. Some will not, because they want to sell their February eggs, knowing that the demand is better for setting in March and April among those who are working for early-broilers, and to some this idea will be entifely new, excepting that they know eggs do not hatch as well in February and March as later in the season.—[Cultivator.]

The census reports say that in the States which reported the value of poultry and eggs produced in 1899, it was from about one-twelfth to one-sixth of the total value of all farm products, ranging from 8.1 per cent. in Maine to 16.7 per cent. in Rhode Island. Of the total value of all animal products it formed from about one-fifth to one-third, ranging from 18.9 per cent. in New Hampshire to 37.2 per cent. in New Hampshire to 37.2 per cent. in Delaware.

The ratio between the value of the poultry and that of the eggs produced during the year is worthy of note. The egg production was worth 68.1 per cent. of the value of both eggs and poultry produced in Maine, more than 60 per cent. in other New England States, 46.1 per cent. in Delaware.

A comparison may be made between the increase in the 'rollowing iten years, 1890' to 1900. The increase during the ten years from 1890 to 1890, and the increase in the 'rollowing ten years, 1890' to 1900. To all purposes it is not much more than a gigantic toy, for a child can swing it back and forth. This is made possible by well-oiled ball bearings, on which it acts. The door, which is eight feet in diameter and twenty-four inches thick, is made of Remington special and chrome steel.

Around the outside of its circular edge are a groove and tongue that interlock with the jamb into which it fits, and when its twenty-four three-and one-half inch bolts have been shifted into place, it presents an impenetrable surface.

Controlling the bolts are a four-movement mechanism, and seventy-two-hoir time lock, either of which will open the locks. In addition to these, there is a combination lock that is used in case of emergency.

Bistory Made by Revolt.

BY EOR. JARKE R. MARK,

(Mamber of Congress from Chicage.)

Off several years before I happened to be elected a member of the House of Representatives in the all of 1396, the subject of the annexation of the Hawaiian Islands and the metical command of the Pacific Ocean by the United States had greatly interested me. It was known early in the administration of President Mc Linier that the effort to annex Hawaii y treatly would meet with determined apposition in the Senate, where the resty would have to be ratified by a swo-faired work before it could take effect. And it was thought by some that he result might be accomplished by a bill or resolution passed through oth houses of Congress by a majority rots. This latter was, in fact, the sethed by which the result was after

SPEAKER REED'S POWER.

Sut we soon learned in Congress that it. Reed, who was then speaker, wes trongly opposed to Hawalian annexamen, and those of us who were new in the House and ardent upon the subset were told by many members that here was no way under the rules, of ringing such a matter of legislation sefore the House for its final determination unless the Speaker gave his consent. In other words, the statement was to the effect that no matter low large a majority of the House light be in favor of a certain proposition, that proposition could not come to the House for consideration and sole until it had been reported from the committee to which it might be returned under the rules, and until the speaker gave his consent to have it called up after the committee had it-corted favorably. This seemed like a startling proposition to many of us, and led to a careful examination of the rules of the House and the precedents, together with what seemed to be the rules of the House and the precedents, together with what seemed to be the rules of the House and the precedents, together with what seemed to be the rules of the House and the precedents, together with what seemed to be the rules of the House and the precedents, together with what seemed to be the rules of the House and the precedents, together with what seemed to be the rules of the House from the rules of the rules of the House rule the decision and proceed to the consideration of the resolution.

A quiet canvass was made among some of the Republican members of the House to ascertain how many Republicans would vote to overrule the decision of the Speaker and bring before the House for its immediate consideration a resolution recognizing the independence of Cuba. A written agreement covering this plan was prepared, and was signed by a number of the Republican members. For manifest reasons it would be improper for me to disclose the names of the persons signing this agreement.

As an ardent Republican I naturally desired that any favorable action which might be had concerning Cuban independence should come before the House as the proposition of the Republican majority rather than to have it pass as a Democratic measure, helped through with a few Republican votes.

MEETING OF INSURGENTS.

through with a few Republican votes.

MEETING OF INSURGENTS.

Mr. Lorimer and I were Republican colleagues from Chicago. We happened to be occupying adjoining seats in the House. We discussed for a number of days the possibility of Republican action, until finally one day, just after the House met, I suggested to him that we call a meeting soon of some of those Republicans who were most strongly in favor of taking action on the Cuban proposition, and organise a campaign on the Republican side of the House. Mr. Lorimer said, "Let's have the meeting this afternoon." That was on March 29, 1898. The first taken was to have only twelve or fitten members present at the meeting, but the idea met with such ready response that more invitations were extended, until, when the meeting was called to order at 5 o'clock that day, more than fifty Republicans were present. A portion of these had signed the agreement to overrule the adverse decision of the Speaker. It was the general sentiment at that meeting that we should endeavor to obtain consideration of the subject of Cuban independence through the Republican majority in the House, but that if the commitmitee of the House or the Speaker should stubbornly attempt to prevent any action by the House, then we should vote to overrule the decision of the Speaker. Some of us had discussed the matter with a few of the Democrats, and we were led to believe that no proposition was likely to be officed from the Democratic side without further consultation.

BAILEY'S CUBAN RESOLUTION.

BAILEY'S CUBAN RESOLUTION.

The meeting of March 29 was adjourned to meet again after the adjournment of the House on March 30. But on March 30, as soon as the journal was approved, Mr. Balley, the Democratic leader, rose, as he stated, to a privileged question and submitted the following resolution:

"Resolved," etc., "that the heroic struggle of the Cuban people against the force of arms and the horrors of famine has shown them worthy to be free. And the United States hereby recognizes the republic of Cuba as a free and independent State."

The reading of this resolution was heard with intense feeling. Mr. Boutelle of Maine immediately made the point or order against the resolution that it was not privileged and not entitled to immediate consideration. Some considerable time was spent in discussing the point of order. Mr. Balley claimed that it was a question of the highest privilege, and was entitled to be taken up at once for final action without reference to a committee. This claim was overruled by Speaker Reed. Mr. Balley appealed from the decision of the chair, and Mr. Boutelle moved to lay the appeal on the table, and on this motion a roll call was ordered.

There was, of course, great anxiety in the House as to the position which would be taken by the Republicans who had attended the meeting of the previous day. A roll call in the House of Representatives takes from thirty to forty minutes. The names of those who do not answer on the first roll call to give them an opportunity to vote. Immediately after the first call of the roll had commenced a distinguished member of the Committee on Foreign Affairs in the House (which committee had jurisdiction of the Cuban question,) who was a warm personal friend of mine, came to me and asked me how I proposed to vote, and the reply was, "A number of us will vote to overrule the decision of the Speaker will give his all before voting. In a little while this members to wait for the second roll call before voting. In a little while this member of the Committee on Foreign Affairs, and that the curing their consideration in course within a reasonable time."

POPULAR SENTIMENT WON. POPULAR SENTIMENT WON.

A little further conversation was had, and immediately the word was passed around to some of the so-called insurgents in the House, and particularly to those who had signed the written agreement, that the Republican members would be justified in voting to sustain the decision of the Speaker—that there would soon be a Republican proposition before the House in regard to Cuba. We had apparently accomplished our purpose. I believe all the Republican members of the House voted to sustain the decision of the Speaker on that occasion. It is possible that we might have voted to sustain the Speaker if we had not It is possible that we might have voted to sustain the Speaker if we had not secured the promise of future consideration. It is possible that when the second call of the roll came we would not have been able to withstand the pressure of party discipline, which is probably stronger on an appeal from the decision of the presiding officer than upon almost any other question. And yet it seems to me that the Speaker's lieutenamts in the House felt sure of defeat that day unless they yielded to the sentiment of the House.

LIMIT TO SPEAKER'S POWER.

REVOLT AGAINST SPEAKER.

It occurred to some of the younger members of the House, who had been trying to work out a possible plan which would permit a vote upon Hawaiian annexation if it should be needed, that the same kind of plan might be applied to bring about a consideration of the Cuban situation. One of the plans suggested was to meet parliamentary force—in other words, to present a resolution to the House as a matter of privilege insisting that it was entitled to immediate consideration without reference to a committee, and when the Speaker had decided, as he inevitably would, that such resolution was not privileged and must be referred, to appeal from his decision, and through the force of a majority overrule the decision and proceed to the consideration of the resolution.

A quiet canvass was made among some of the Republican members of the House to ascertain how many Republicans would vote to overrule the decision of the Speaker and bring before the House for its immediate consideration a resolution recognizing the independence of Cuba. A written agreement covering this plan was pre-LIMIT TO SPEAKER'S POWER.

Any other suoject.

FAVORED INDEPENDENT ACTION.

I think now, and I thought then, that I would have voted against the Speaker's ruling if it had not been for the understanding reached. When the question, which I have narrated, was put to me I feit that a great deal depended upon the answer. We were not morally bound to vote with the Democratic side, because we had not been consulted about either the time or the form of procedure. Mr. Bailey, the Democratic leader, with 'political sagacity, was endeavoring to take advantage of a schism in the Republican ranks. Under such circumstances to vote with the opposition party and thereby overrule the majority might have been fraught with the gravest difficulties under our form of government. On the other hand, if, without any concession to us, we had voted to sustain the Speaker, it would have demonstrated to him the power of the Speaker and of party discipline, and intensified his purpose to prevent consideration of the Cuban question.

DIE CAST FOR CUBA. FAVORED INDEPENDENT ACTION

Great events like the war with Spain, the granting of freedom to Cuba, the increase of the territory of the United States by the addition of Porto Rico and the Philippines, cannot be said to depend upon any one incident or probably any number of small incidents,

THE MAJORITY RULES.

It might well be added, however, that the Speaker does not possess arbitrary power concerning the subjects of legislation, a fact which was forcibly demonstrated in the proceedings which have been narrated. A majority of the House of Representatives can now bring before the House for consideration which it really desires to take up. And more important than even the result upon the Cuban question was the demonstration that a majority of the House controls the House and that the Speaker cannot arbitrarily override the will of a majority.

Letcember 29, 1901, in a private insane asylum in Northern California. Letters of administration were asked for yesterday by his trustee, Chris A. Buckley, the "blind boss" of San Francisco. All the property held in Bauer's own right at the time of his death was of a personal nature, valued at about $100. The property held in trust by Buckley, however, is very valuable and returns a monthly income of hundreds of dollars. It is blood money, being derived from exorbitant rents paid by scarlet women of the demi-monde, who hold forth in spider parlors on Alameda street and Nigger Alley, Buckley became Bauer's trustee in May, 1898, succeeding Henry J. Health Economy For Men.

Men's ailments frequently come slowly and by stealth. Symptoms may be obscure during the early stages, and, if noted, are apf to be regarded as meaningless. But it is during the early development of a disorder that a little attention counts most. Not always is treatment needed, and in hundreds of instances I have by a little timely advice aided men to completely evade threatened derangements. Those who have reason to suspect even the slightest disorder may feel free to consult me at any time. For this there is no charge whatever, and such helpful suggestions as I am able to offer are always freely given. I never advise treatment unless the need of it exists, nor will I treat a case in which I have the least doubt as to my ability to cure.

HER GRIDDLE CAKES. Angelina Finally Attained Perfection in Their Manufacture, but it Was a Trifle Late.

Trifle Late.

[New York Sun:] "Experience is a wonderful thing," said the young married man. "For instance: Don't have griddle cakes for breakfast when your wife's without a cook.

"Angelina offered to make some the other morning, the day after Katle, the chef, had demanded her passports. Angelina said she had made them before, and besides she had the recipe in her cook book.

'I'm fond of griddle cakes and fonder of Angelina. The combination appealed to me.

"That's a glorious idea,'I said.

"Angelina rolled up her sleeves a little way and put on an apron that had an enormous bow behind when she had tied it. Then she consulted her cook book for a long time, frowned tragically, and finally proceeded to mix things with an air of resolution. Meanwhile the soapstone griddle was getting hot.

"Now you sit down at the table and be all ready,' said Angelina, pouring two little puddles of batter on the griddle.

"Another minute and Angelina slid the first products of her art into my plate and passed me the butter and maple syrup. Then she waited severely.

"How do you like them?' demanded Angelina.

"They were prepossessing, fat, little reddle cakes though a triffe pale.
